Testimonials

Eric C. Miller

San Marino Venture

Allawos & Company has been critical in helping San Marino Venture Group and our portfolio of partner companies define business goals and develop strategies to achieve them. Allawos & Company is also one of the great connectors of the world; they generously open their considerable Rolodex when they see that there will be mutual benefit, even when it is not readily apparent to anyone but themselves. Allawos & Company has great integrity and is not afraid to ask tough questions and push for answers. San Marino Venture Group is pleased to partner with Allawos & Company and is proud to have them on our advisory board. February 2015

Dudley DeZonia

Pres. Royal Truck Body

Originally, we were introduced to Allawos and Co. as an organization with a "knack for improving production throughput". Well, it so happens that was only a small part of the story. In addition, we have found a Trusted Advisor who has made numerous contributions to many facets of the business. In addition to streamlining our production system, Allawos has redirected the utilization of our ERP; overhauled our IT systems; been the conduit to beneficial insurance and banking relationships; and is researching new manufacturing resources, globally and locally. Michael himself makes "The Allawos Experience" uniquely rewarding. He is straightforward, accountable, effective, fully invested, and smart-as-a-whip. Quite frankly, Michael is unlike any consultant we have ever known. October 19, 2012
